VILLA ARMY ATTACKS IN FORCE

With 11,000 Men, Bandits and Yaqui Allies Strike

Government Holds Citizens at Request of Carranza

NOGALES, Ariz., Nov. 15.—Carlos Rando, Villa's ever-ready son, announced today that General Villa and the Yaqui chief Urbalejo had attacked Hermosillo today with their combined forces. The last Villa troops evacuated Naco yesterday.

Hermosillo, according to Carranza officials, is occupied by General Manuel D'Elia, with 8000 men. Villa is said to have about 11,000 men, including Urbalejo's force of 1500 Yaquis.

Carlos Linas, who claims to be an American citizen from El Paso, was held by United States military authorities here today on complaint of Carranza officials, who declared Linas was a Villa officer. Linas asserted he was a buyer of hides. Linas was released this afternoon. His arrest is said to have resulted from the activities of Gustavo Padres, Carranza's representative here, against whom there has arisen some feeling. A position was circulated today to ask Carranza to remove Padres.

Obregon to Attack Position of Villa

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 15.—General Obregon, with approximately 7000 infantry, cavalry and artillery, left Naco this morning, according to reports from the headquarters of General Calles at Agua Prieta. He plans to attack General Villa and endeavor to prevent an alleged mobilization of Villa troops in the Sonora River Valley.

Two thousand Carranza cavalry are en route today from Agua Prieta to Naco, according to reports from the headquarters of General Calles, as part of the movement initiated today by Obregon.

CARRANZA AT NACO.
WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Carranza army today announced the occupation of Naco. Villa troops fled toward Villa Verde with 2000 Carranza cavalry in pursuit.

Italians Put Air Fleet to Flight

ROME, Nov. 14, (via Paris Nov. 15, 4:35 a. m.).—The following official statement was issued today at the headquarters of the Italian general staff: "In the Ledro Valley, enemy artillery opening an intense fire against our position, without damaging our solid defenses."

"On the Carso Plateau we have taken strong entrenchments called Della Frasca to the southwest of San Martino.

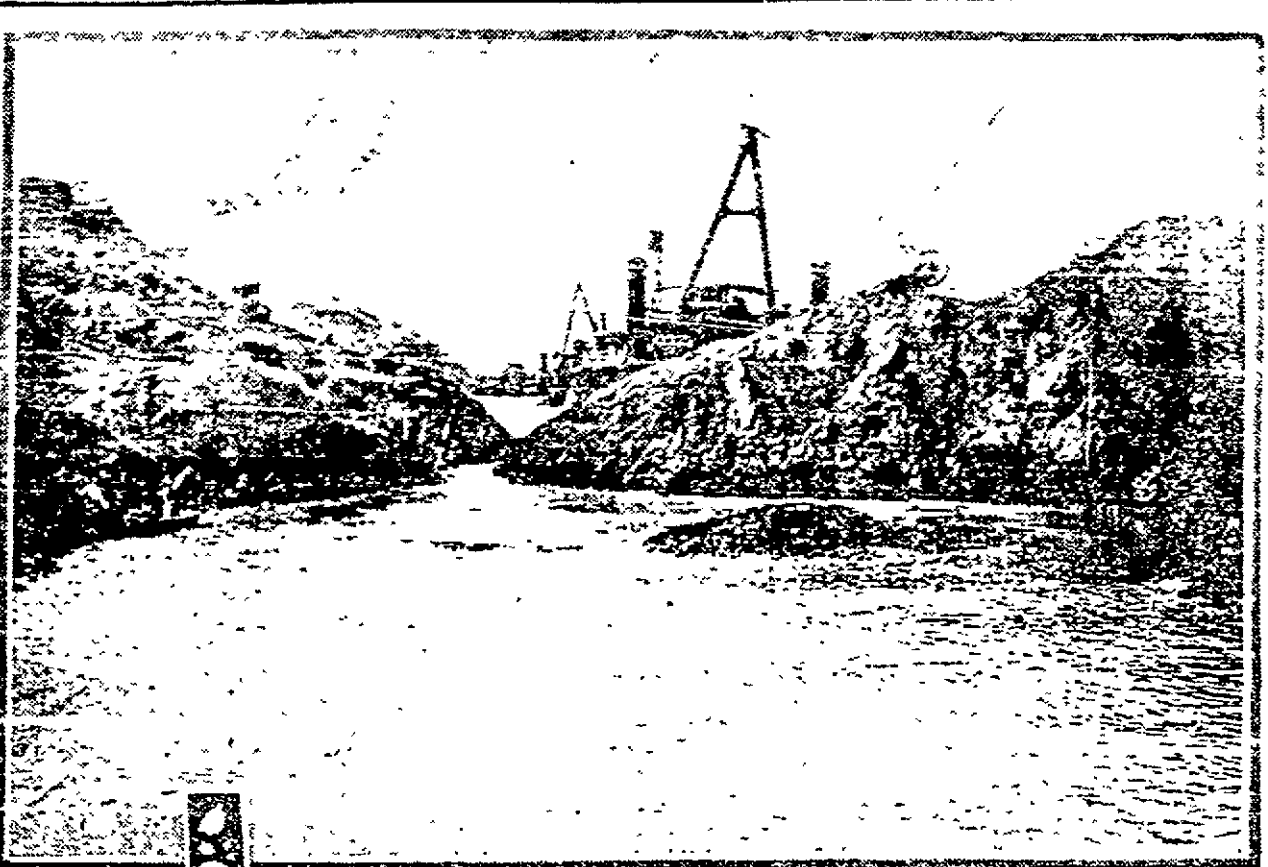

Our aeroplanes on the 12th, notwithstanding bad weather, made successful raids over the Carso. They bombed the railroad stations at Reichenberg, San Daniel, Syppe and Dettogino and long lines of trains standing at the stations. Twenty enemy machines of the Albatross type and one of the Aradit type which were met on the way were put to flight by machine gun fire. Our machines returned undamaged."

CHARGES INDIANS ARE SACRIFICED

German Lieutenant Says That Hindus Are Sent Ahead Into Gas Fumes.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—An official report made by First Lieutenant Schophaus, of the Thirty-ninth Infantry Regiment, was given out as follows by the News Agency today:

"When in charge of the station at Opladen, Lieutenant Schophaus conversed with British and French prisoners who were being brought in after the battle of Loos. A British lieutenant, a member of a London regiment, made statements which showed the use to which the auxiliary troops in Kitchener's army are put.

"During the battle near Loos the British started the attack with Indian troops. These troops suffered heavily. The Germans continued to discharge poisonous gases and the wounded Indians, unable to retreat, perished. It was not until some time later that the British troops began their attack. When an English officer was asked if he did not object to these methods, he answered, 'Well, they are only Indians.'"

A. F. L. Declares Recess of One Day

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Because the resolution committee of the American Federation of Labor requested more time to consider the questions in hand a recess was taken today until tomorrow morning after a brief session of the federation. Several other committees also asked for more time before presenting their work for final action.

The resolution committee has been considering 153 resolutions introduced since the opening day a week ago and several of these were expected to bring about much discussion when finally presented to the delegates for action.

FIFTEEN HURT IN WRECK

TEAGUE, Texas, Nov. 15.—Fifteen persons were injured when a Trinity and Brazos Valley passenger engine jumped a trestle near Kirvin late yesterday and a passenger car and one passenger coach were derailed. Physicians said three of the injured were hurt seriously, but would recover.

Army of Men Fights to Clear Big Ditch

Almost four months must elapse before the Panama canal can be used by any of the ships for which it was intended. This announcement was made today by the Mercantile Association of San Francisco and has proved a disappointment for coast importers and exporters who had hoped for the passage of their goods by way of the new waterway. Additional slides in the "big ditch" are assigned as the reason for the further delay in addition to the seriousness of those that have already been noted.

Large forces of men have been advanced against the task of clearing away the new slides, but, at best, they will not be able to make an impression upon the slide before the first of the year. Two months from that time, it is expected, will see the canal cleared of its debris and opened again to traffic.

The last great slide occurred October 26 and the canal engineers have been working rapidly since that time, not only to clear away the dirt, but to devise new plans for the prevention of further slides. Simple as this is to say the task has been a tremendous one and has called for the exercise of the highest ingenuity and diligence.

BOTTOM FORCED UP

Beginning with a very slow movement of rock and soil at the side of the canal, there was a gradual acceleration of the movement and the slipping of a large amount of debris into the course of the water. The final movement came with sudden swiftness, piling immense masses of rock and soil into the canal, forcing the soft mud and ooze below the water up to the surface and clogging passage.

A series of heavy blasts was the means devised by the engineers to dislodge part of the solidly forming barrier. Into the openings thus made the water rushed and carried with it vast amounts of debris.

The formation of an island by the mud as it rose from the bottom under pressure of the lateral slides is described by eye-witnesses. About 6 o'clock in the morning one such slide was noticed. By noon it had grown to half its present size and by noon of the following day had spread until it joined the sides of the canal and formed a prolongation of the shelf extending into the canal just above the island. This shelf also appeared as an island forced up from the muddy bottom of the canal by a rock movement and grew in size until it blocked the canal channel for its entire width.

Neutral Refused Hearing on War Danes Refuse to Hear Bjornson's Son

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 14, via London, Nov. 15.—Nearly 2000 persons who had gathered last night at a hall where Erling Bjornson, son of the Norwegian dramatist, was to deliver a lecture upon the impressions of the war he had gained from visits to the three fronts, refused to permit the speaker to go on with his address.

Members of the German legation staff occupied prominent seats in the hall, but most of the audience sang and shouted, declaring its willingness to listen to a German, but not to a person from a neutral country.

After striving for an hour to restore order, the chairman declared the meeting closed without Erling Bjornson having spoken. A large force of police was present, but the disturbance was not of a nature to require their intervention.

Infantry Battling in Labyrinth Continues

PARIS, Nov. 15, 2:35 p. m.—Infantry firing has been going on without interruption in "The Labyrinth," according to announcement made this afternoon by the French war office. Previous reports that the losses of the Germans November 14 were very high have been confirmed.

The text of the communication follows: "In the Artois district at 'The Labyrinth' the fighting between infantry forces, together with the throwing of hand grenades, continued without interruption last night. It has been confirmed that the losses of the enemy during the action of November 14 were very heavy."

"In the Champagne district the Germans have attacked with hand grenades the barriers erected in front of our listening posts at Buire de Lahure. They were repulsed."

"In the Woerthe to the north of Grey the explosion of one of our mines, together with the very sustained fire of our trench guns, overwhelmed the enemy and demolished his sapping works."

Germans Take Trench From French in West

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The text of the German official statement issued today said:

"Western theater: Northeast of Ecurie a projecting French trench 200 yards long was captured after fierce fighting and joined to our positions."

"Eastern theater: A Russian local attack in the neighborhood of Smorgon broke down on heavy losses in front of our position."

"Army of General von Linsingen: The western bank of the Styr has been cleared of all Russian troops."

"Balkan theater: Our pursuit continued everywhere. Yesterday a total of 5500 Serbians were made prisoner and twelve cannons were captured."

Short Time Limit May Effect Kelley Recall

That the persons who are seeking the recall of Supervisor Joseph M. Kelley will have but forty-six days in which to circulate a petition on which would appear the names of persons on the 1914 register of voters, was stated by friends of Kelley today.

It was rumored that a second petition would be placed in circulation thirty days after the first recall petition had been in circulation. There were, however, signatures filed with the county clerk. About 3500 signatures are necessary.

Molera Is Witness in Trial He Brought

J. R. Molera, complaining witness in a grand larceny case against Frank Teramorse Jr., was the chief witness today in the case brought on before a jury in Superior Judge Trabucco's court. He identified a large quantity of clothing which had been stolen from him, he alleged, at the time Teramorse and Mrs. Molera fled to New York.

GREEKS MAY DISARM ALLIES

Diplomatists at Athens Hear Disquieting Rumor

Germans in Russia and Gorizia Are Hard Bese

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Diplomatist representatives at Athens of the entente allies unquestionably are greatly alarmed at hints that if the Franco-British troops in Serbia attempt to fall back toward Salonika the Greek authorities may seek to disarm them. Intimations of this nature have come from the press and from the Greek government, and the assurances from Greek official sources of warm friendship and benevolent neutrality do not carry complete conviction.

Greek military circles express their belief that when the railroad from Belgrade to Sofia is in operation without danger of attack the Austrians and Germans will leave the Macedonian campaigns to the Bulgarians. They fail to explain how the numerically inferior Bulgarian force is to make headway against the Serbians and the Franco-British allies.

The Bulgarians are reported again to have occupied Tetovo, which, situated twenty-five miles west of Uskub, forms the extreme point of the wedge driven between the Serbian armies. This is the only bit of definite news from the Near Eastern frontier, but it is known the French continue to hold the crest dominating the Koprutsko region in the Strumitsa sector.

BULGARS NEAR MONASTIR.
Monastir, in southwestern Serbia, is showing renewed uneasiness on account of the large Bulgarian forces which are threatening Perlepe from the Babuna Pass region.

Troops of the entente allies, arriving in an unceasing stream at Saloniki, tax the resources of the port and the railroad to the utmost. This is accepted as an indication of the intention to push military operations without regard to the equivocal diplomatic position of Greece.

The visit to Riga of Emperor Nicholas is taken here to mean that things at this end of the long Russian

Tunnel Leads to Trench of Enemy Entombed Sappers Dig for 61 Hours

PARIS, Nov. 15.—An episode of the battlefield is related in a letter from the front concerning two sappers who were buried by the explosion of a German mine, but dug their way out after 61 hours' work. The two men were entombed in a small space at the end of a counter-mine gallery.

By means of knives they made a vertical chimney, only to find that it issued less than a yard from an enemy trench. Waiting until night, they dug in another direction and after 24 hours reached the upper air.

Each has been awarded a medal.

Italy Is Embittered by Air Raid on Verona

ROME, Nov. 15.—The air raid upon Verona, which resulted yesterday in the death of thirty civilians and the wounding of forty-nine others, has intensified the bitterness felt in Italy against Austria. The idea of National demands prompt reprisals, suggesting that all Germans in Italy be interned in concentration camps, that Austro-German property be confiscated and that Austro-German prisoners be held as hostages.

The bombs of the aircraft found most of their victims in the principal square of the city, where citizens and peasants from the outlying districts were attending the market. Nineteen persons were killed by one bomb. The aeroplanes visited various parts of the city, but none of the missiles dropped by them fell near any of the military buildings.

As soon as he heard of the aerial raid Pope Benedict directed Cardinal Gasparri, papal secretary of state, to telegraph immediately to Cardinal Bailetti, archbishop of Verona, asking him to take the necessary steps for everything possible to relieve the sufferers.

Italy has been going very well for the emperor's troops. They are advancing to the west of Kemmer, which fell into their hands during the recent push. Petrograd military experts declare that the capture of Kemmer places the German line from Labau to Mitau in jeopardy and also brings a section of the Tukum-Mitau railroad within artillery range.

The German lines are said to be only ten miles in advance of Mitau, which the Russians believe will soon be within the range of their artillery.

Along the Italian front the fighting for Gorizia dominates the situation. The Austrians are said to be feeling some anxiety for the fate of the city, the fall of which might be expected to have a decided effect on the Serbian campaign.

Schmidt Attorneys Question Nature of Combustibles in Times Building.

(By Associated Press.)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—When the trial of Matthew A. Schmidt, charged with murder in connection with the blowing up of the Times building five years ago was resumed today attorneys for the defense continued questioning witnesses along a line apparently designed to show that gas or printers' ink might have had something to do with the explosion which killed twenty men.

John Beckwith, a newspaper reporter on duty at the Central police station, less than 100 yards from the Times building, on the night of October 1, 1910, was the first witness called by the defense.

John Beckwith, a newspaper reporter on duty at the Central police station, less than 100 yards from the Times building, on the night of October 1, 1910, was the first witness called by the defense.

Beckwith, in direct testimony, said he heard the explosion, rushed into the street and saw a huge column of smoke and dust arising from the rear of the structure. Immediately afterward flames burst from the windows of the Times composing room, on the second floor.

Beckwith ran into the police station to call up his city editor and a minute or two later, when he ran to the Times corner, he said the building was in flames. Beckwith also said he saw four men in the uniform of United States sailors rip an awning from a nearby store front and use it as a life net into which a number of Times employees leaped from the second and third floors.

Schmidt's attorneys asked Beckwith if the flames burst from all the windows of the Times building simultaneously.

"They seemed to spread from window to window," was Beckwith's reply.

Hospital Ships Not Used for Munitions

LONDON, Nov. 15.—A statement issued by the British admiralty says: "In a German wireless message sent out on the night of November 13, it was conjectured that British hospital ships are being used for conveying troops, munitions and other war material. This is absolutely false. British hospital ships always have and always will be used under the conditions prescribed by the Geneva and The Hague conventions."

CHINA MAY AGAIN HAVE MONARCHY

Decision of People at the Polls Last Week to Be Recorded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—Each of the twenty-three Chinese provinces will assemble today to record the decision of the Chinese people upon the two questions upon which they voted at the polls last week—the acceptance of the revised constitution prepared by the drafting committee of the council of state and the substitution of a monarchical form of government for the republic.

Reports reaching Washington indicate that an overwhelming majority of the limited electorate has recorded itself in favor of both the constitution and the monarchy. The next step which will be taken by President Yuan Shi Kai.

It is expected that very soon some official announcement will come from Peking as to whether the provincial conventions will be permitted to carry out the revision of the constitution and to the capital to assemble in a national convention. Recent statements made by the Chinese minister for foreign affairs to the diplomatic representatives who protested against the restoration of the monarchy are regarded by the officials here as indicating a postponement of the assembly of the convention until some time next year.

"SO LONG LETTY!" EXHIBITS PLAY HAS ELEMENTS OF COMEDY

Music and Mirth Give Usual Orpheum Variety

One may hear Carolina White sing "So Long Letty" at the Orpheum this week and it is as much as the play as there are as many laughs on the bill as there are thrills in a football game.

Because the headline is a great diva, who is familiar to many in grand opera and concert, and because there is also an accomplished pianist who was called upon last night for eight encores, one need not think the show is top-heavy with music. Carolina White sang straight to her operatic reputation and was, as always, a revelation to those who had never heard her. Hans H. played a bit to the house. Late artists.

Say for the genuinely funny Weston, the honors of the women. Blue Fay, with her notes and rolling eyes. Sylvie, the husky voice and distinct Mabelle Lewis, are so entertaining that they are sure to be heard of again.

CONFIDENTIAL

To William Weston, who has been in the show for this week, that for this week he is as good as a new man. He has all his own, a new method, that has a new way in the show.

TUSKEGEE MOURNS NEGRO EDUCATOR

Funeral of Booker Washington to Be Held From His School.

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Nov. 15.—Arrangements are being completed today for the funeral of Booker T. Washington, who died here yesterday. Funeral services will be held at the Tuskegee Institute tomorrow morning followed by interment in the Tuskegee cemetery. Thousands of Alabamians, prominent educators and others from various parts of the country are expected to attend the funeral.

Booker T. Washington, foremost teacher and leader of the negro race, died here yesterday at his home, the Tuskegee Institute, of which he was through his personal supervision of the activities following a nervous breakdown caused death four hours after Dr. Washington arrived from New York.

Although he had been in failing health for several months, the negro leader's condition became serious only last week while he was in the east. He then realized that he was near, but was determined to make the last long trip south. He had said often: "I was born in the south, have lived all my life in the south and expect to die and be buried in the south."

A widow, three children and four grandchildren survive. John H. Washington, a brother, is superintendent of industries at Tuskegee Institute.

Dr. Washington was born in slavery near Hades Ford, Va., in 1857 or 1858. After the emancipation of his race, he moved with his family to West Virginia. In 1881 he organized the Industrial School for Negroes at Tuskegee, to which he devoted most of his attention during the remaining years of his life.

The institute started in a rented shanty church, and today it owns 3500 acres of land in Alabama and has nearly 100 buildings, valued at $500,000.

In addition to his prominence as an educator, Dr. Washington gained considerable fame as an author. An honorary degree of master of arts was conferred upon him by Harvard university in 1896 and 1891 he was given an honorary degree of doctor of laws by Dartmouth college.

Real Turkey for Wards of State Mince Pie on Side for Thanksgiving Dinners

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 15.—Turkey and the mince pie, including mince pie with a "kick" in it—in fact, a real Thanksgiving dinner—will be provided by the state to its wards in all the state hospitals, homes and schools on the 25th of this month, while in the state prisons there will be the fine, juicy roast pork, the "turkey" and the mince pie will be "kickless."

Estimates already are being received by the state board of control from the several institutions, and approvals are being sent out as fast as possible for the purchases of the extra things necessary to make up a Thanksgiving dinner.

It is estimated by the board that approximately 2000 pounds—ten tons of turkey will be necessary to go the rounds in the state institutions. Turkey will be provided in plenty for all. The state raises turkeys on the farms of most of the hospitals, but tons must be purchased to make up enough to serve on Thanksgiving Day.

There will be candles, nuts, pies—mince and pumpkin—fruits and dainties to top off the big meal.

Pimples, itching skin, rashes, burning sensations and scrofula are the first signs of a debilitated and impure state of the blood. The trouble may have been in your blood from birth, but no matter how you were infected, you must treat it through the blood. The action of S. S. S. is to cleanse the blood. It soaks through the system direct to the seat of the trouble—acting as an antidote to neutralize the blood poison. Uncle Wiggily and the Snowbirds

(By HOWARD R. GARIS.)

Copyright, 1915, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Uncle Wiggily, are you going out today?" asked Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the mustered lady who kept the hollow stump bungalow for Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, as the bunny man came down to breakfast the morning after.

"Going out? Why, yes, I think so," answered Uncle Wiggily.

"I don't think you would, seeing there is quite a snow on the ground," went on the mustered lady. "But if you are going out, would you mind doing an errand for me?"

"Most certainly not," Uncle Wiggily answered. "It will give me a great pleasure to do an errand for you, or even ten or half a dozen."

"One will be enough, thank you," said Nurse Jane, with a smile. "I have a little knot with a twinkle on the end like the one in Uncle Wiggily's nose. I want you to take it to Mr. Chick-Cluck for Charlie and Arabella. Will you take it?"

"Of course will," said Uncle Wiggily. "But why do you send stale bread?"

"Why not send fresh?" asked the ben lady. "Like stale bread better for her chickens, Chick-Cluck, and Arabella. It does the trick better for their digestion, and it makes nice bread pudding, too."

"Very well," said the rabbit gentleman. "I'll take it," said the ben lady, and he put on his tall silk hat, and his overcoat with the fur outside, and his white and blue striped barber pole rheumatism crutch, that Nurse Jane had carved for him out of a cornucopia away from the hollow stump bungalow.

Keep warmer. The Uncle Wiggily gave the birds more crumbs for next day, and told them always to come to the bungalow when they had something to eat. Somewhere, and away he went to the hollow stump bungalow.

"If ever I can do you a favor we will," Uncle Wiggily, the rabbit gentleman, said to them.

"Thank you," he said to them. Mrs. Chick-Cluck, the ben lady, was very glad to get the stale bread. And she made Uncle Wiggily a cup of carrot tea.

It was rather late when the rabbit gentleman started back for his bungalow, and he had not gone very far before it began to snow again. Faster and faster came down the flakes, until Uncle Wiggily could hardly see the path. The wind blew cold, too.

"Oh, my! I fear I am going to be lost in the storm," thought Mr. Longears. "That would be too bad. I guess I had better go back to the hollow stump bungalow, and stay all night with Mr. Chick-Cluck. The rabbit gentleman."

But when Uncle Wiggily tried to find the path back the snow was so thick he could not. Nor could he even find the way to the hollow stump bungalow. And the snow came down faster and faster.

"Oh, dear!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "What shall I do? I am freezing!"

"Come in here," Uncle Wiggily said a little chirping voice. "See, with our house under the snow it is large enough for you and us. Come in and you will be warm, for it is not cold under the fluffy snow."

"Who are you?" asked the rabbit gentleman, in surprise.

"The snow birds," they said. "You fed with the bread crumbs," was the answer. Then Uncle Wiggily saw the nice snow-house the birds had made. In it he crawled, and he was no longer cold, and he was happy to have a carrot in his pocket, he had something to eat.

And so Uncle Wiggily was, for in the little house he slept as cozy as a cat, with the warm wings of the snow birds to cover him up from the cold. In the morning the snow had stopped falling, and Uncle Wiggily could go on to his bungalow. But he never forgot the kindness of the snow birds.

And if the pancake turner doesn't fall down stairs with the eggbeater and scare the rolling pin so it can't dance on the plate, you can see about Uncle Wiggily and Uncle Butter.

"Better Babies" to Be Seen in Big Show

Hundreds of babies of the eastbay cities will be entered in the old-fashioned baby show which will be held in connection with the Oakland Women's Household Show, to be given at the municipal auditorium from December 2 to 11 inclusive. The baby show will be held in the art gallery of the auditorium on Tuesday afternoon, December 7, from 1:30 to 5 o'clock and will be under the direction of the Alameda County Circle of Women of Woodcraft.

The committee of the household show believe that the slogan "Better Babies," of equal importance with other features of the show, and that the finest "exhibits" will be shown. The mothers will be informed on the latest methods of taking care of infants and a trained nurse will be in attendance on the babies.

Numerous prizes will be given for boy and girl babies, twins, triplets, the fattest baby and others.

Among the women arranging for this feature are Mrs. Marie Baldwin, Mrs. Alice Spencer, Mrs. Annie Joyce and Mrs. Carrie Denney.

Women in Conference on National Defense

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The national defense conference of the women's section of the Navy League met for the first time here today. Hundreds of women delegates and audience members from throughout the country.

The women's section of the Navy League is the outgrowth of a meeting of local women held here July 4. The object of today's meeting was to afford an opportunity for permanent organization and to impress upon Congress the need of adequate national defense.

ALIENS DISCHARGED.

OAKDALE, Nov. 15.—The law passed by the last Legislature requiring the employment of American citizens on state highway work is being enforced on the Salda-Oakdale road. As a result twenty-five of the 100 men employed were laid off and fifteen Americans quit. It is claimed by men in charge of the road camp that the foreigners do more work than Americans and eat less expensive food, so the order has not been received with favor by the contractors.

APPLE SHOW OPENS.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 15.—With a large number of exhibits than ever before, the eighth national apple show opened here today and will continue through the week. Two hundred men were employed in putting the finishing touches to the fruit exhibits, which represent every fruit growing district in the Northwestern States. Agricultural displays are made from Washington State College, the Oregon Agricultural College and University of Idaho. One of the entertainment features for the opening day was a children's carnival.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN

Tells How to Retard the Infirmitities of Old Age.

"I am 77 years old, and for thirty-five years have lived on the E. C. & St. L. R. R. Also a Civil War Veteran. I suffered from a general nervous breakdown and would have such weak, dizzy spells I would have to go to bed for a day at a time. When visiting friends in Bradford, Ohio, an old doctor recommended that I try Vinol. That very day I bought a bottle and continued to take it regularly. It has done me a world of good, built me up so I feel stronger in every way, and have gone back to work again, and I want to recommend Vinol to any old comrades or aged person who needs strength, for it is a grand medicine." W. H. Bowser, Steubenville, Ohio.

The reason Vinol is so beneficial to old people is because it contains the very elements needed to replace the strength and vigor of youth. The medicinal elements of fresh cod livers, without oil, peptonized of iron, beef peritone and a mild tonic wine.

We ask every aged person in Oakland to try Vinol on our offer to return the money if it fails to create strength. The Owl Drug Co., Oakland, Cal.—Advertisement.

WOMEN in the NEWS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 15.—The divorce suit of E. E. Hougue and his handsome and talented wife, Mrs. Laura Arnijo Hollister Hougue, opera singer, horsewoman, automobilist, aviatrix and athlete, was dropped from the divorce calendar here when neither party appeared in the divorce court to prosecute the suit.

Attorneys for both parties declared they had not heard from either Mr. or Mrs. Hougue for several weeks, and that they had reached the conclusion that a reconciliation had been effected.

On this statement Judge Monroe dropped the case and nothing more will be done unless one of the parties puts in appearance and asks that it be set for trial.

Mrs. Hougue is the daughter of Colonel Amador V. Arnijo, millionaire ranch and mine owner of New Mexico, and her husband was arrested on a charge of throwing confetti at her during the case and charged with assault. He was made to appear before Justice Sumner.

Mrs. Hougue replied with a suit for divorce, and Mrs. Hougue filed one too. Then they both dropped from sight so far as the attorneys are concerned.

Mrs. Hougue is the former wife of J. M. Hollister, son of Uriah S. Hollister, a Denver millionaire. They met, married and were divorced in Denver.

WOODED MANY TIMES; LANDS IN PRISON

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 15.—Trilled by devils ways from Portland to Reno, Nev., Robert Schiffbauer, aged 23, was charged with the murder of a woman, a pretty 17-year-old girl of this city.

"I'm glad they got him," said Miss McAllister. "He deserted me four days after our marriage."

The charges against Schiffbauer were first brought before the police when Eleanor McAllister had Mrs. Minnie Spaulding, a candidate at the last election for the office, has been selected to succeed her in the position of superior judge pro tem, to hear the evidence in a pending case in Sonoma county. CALLS BY AIRPLANE, LATEST IN THE SOUTH

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 15.—Paving and returning social calls by airplane is becoming vogue among the naval set here. Captain Asher R. Robertson, commander of the United States cruiser San Diego, flagship of the Pacific fleet, and Mrs. Robertson made a flight with her husband yesterday.

Morris called in his airplane on the San Diego, where he picked up the Robertson family. A flight was made around the bay, the airplane returning to the San Diego to disembark the passengers.

Admiral C. McKee Winslow, commander of the Pacific fleet, and Mrs. Winslow, who were on the San Diego, were also on the flight.

Prophecy That Fails Exemplified in Mode

Kimono sleeves again? Never! So said the arbiters and followers of the fashions, but, as usual, they were wrong—for it does not pay, prophetically speaking, to say anything will not happen in women's modes. Not only the kimono sleeves, but even the old "Leg of Mutton" sleeve of yore, is back.

They are being seen on several of the latest models from New York and London, and the new hats, with their upstanding brims, are also among the latest novelties from the fashion shops; but the big sleeves are the important feature of the week.

RANCH IS SOLD.

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Nov. 15.—Another large realty deal was recently consummated when a 720-acre stock ranch, situated about 12 miles this side of Bly, was purchased for a consideration ranging in the neighborhood of $18,000. S. A. White, who transferred his holdings to Gilbert C. Harrison, will leave shortly for Reno to visit his son, who is engaged in business there. Harrison, the new owner, will engage in the raising of thoroughbred stock.

THE CHIEF MENACE OF THE HIGH SCHOOL

Greek letter societies in the way of enforcing discipline, the school board claims. They promise also they will draw no line between pupil and teacher and will see that all faculty members relinquish their connections with the societies.

"The elimination of the societies from the life of the high school is a big benefit to the students themselves," A. E. Sunderland, secretary of the Board of Education, said. "All the big colleges and universities and the big national college fraternities are passing rules prohibiting the recruiting of members from the high school orders. We, as members of the board, upon our election, promised to enforce the laws, and we intend to see that this law in regard to fraternities is strictly carried out."

FILIPINOS ROB CHINESE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Fred Chang, Chinese proprietor of a restaurant at 842 Kearny street, was lured into a room at the Fairfield Hotel, 1321 Stockton street, last night, by five Filipinos and robbed of $1000. He was locked in a clothes locker, from which it took him twenty minutes to kick his way out.

Resinol Soap

a friend to tender skins

Any soap will clean your skin—a bar of laundry soap will do it if you do not care what becomes of your complexion. But you know that laundry soap contains harsh, drying alkali that would ruin your skin and hair, so you never think of using it for your toilet.

Many toilet soaps contain this same injurious alkali. Resinol Soap contains absolutely no free alkali, and is added the Resinol medication. This gives it soothing, healing properties which clear the complexion, comfort tender skins and keep the hair rich and lustrous.

MRS. WIGGIN A VISITOR.

The visit of Mrs. George Riggs (Kate Douglas Wiggin), after an absence of a score of years, is a great pleasure to her California friends. Mrs. Riggs arrived Friday and is a guest at the Cliff Hotel, across the bay. Since she left San Francisco, to make her home in New York, she has won fame with her "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and other stories. Her home in New York and her summer place in Maine are centers of hospitality for an interesting coterie of noted literary men and women of the day. Mark Twain was an admirer of hers. Riggs, who counts Howells, William Winter and others equally well known among her friends.

Before she went east Mrs. Riggs was a pioneer in settlement work in San Francisco. Here she founded the first free kindergarten for poor children. She had private kindergarten classes as well, and some of her former pupils who are belles of society now will entertain for her.

I am proud of what your remedies have done for me."—Mrs. MARY GAUTHIER, 21 Ridge St., Montpelier, Vt.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

HELP GET CONVENTION.

A definite and energetic campaign has been launched in San Francisco to secure for that city the National Republican Convention in 1916. Eastern cities, such as Chicago and St. Louis, are also making strong bids for the convention. The movement started by San Francisco has created a deal of interest and the national committeemen from the coast are in favor of it. They will go to Washington December 14th, when the national committee meets to decide where the 1916 convention is to be held, prepared strongly to second San Francisco's invitation.

The only chance for success to San Francisco's project is for the whole coast to get behind it as a unit. Such co-operation is plainly appropriate in this case and will prove worth while to every Pacific Coast State. Our sectional welfare requires, more than anything else that the party leaders, the members of Congress, the public men of all classes, visit the coast and see first-hand our possession and comprehend our needs.

As a neighbor of San Francisco we are glad to be one of the first coast cities to get behind San Francisco's program and we hope that other coast cities will at once get into line. As the leading Republican evening paper in California we consider it a duty and esteem it a privilege to give our support and urge the support of others in the efforts now being made to secure this great convention for this section of the country.

Oakland is always glad to help San Francisco, just as she would expect San Francisco to get behind any project of community benefit. Oakland might be directly interested in. While the different communities around the bay have their separate individualities, they comprise one great urban district when national questions and events of national consequence are up for consideration. The National Republican Convention cannot be secured by presenting to the national committee purely local reasons and local benefits and local ambitions as behind the invitation. All California is deeply interested in the matter; so is Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Washington, Oregon—all the Northwestern States. Oakland sets an example and urges all the coast communities to give their solid and concerted support to San Francisco's campaign, because if successful it will benefit the entire coast.

BOOKER T. WASHINGTON.

In the death of Booker T. Washington America loses one of its most valuable citizens; the colored race the greatest individual, incomparably, it has ever produced. Booker T. Washington's value is estimated, as should be in every case, in the service he did for others. He began his public career as an educator twenty years after the Civil War, in a period when the nation was considering seriously, and somewhat violently, what could and should be done to readjust conditions as required by the abolition of slavery.

Dr. Washington worked first for the betterment of his own race and he went to that work well qualified. He was born in a slave State, Virginia, in 1859. As a youth he worked in a salt furnace and a coal mine, as a house servant; he studied all the while and in 1872 started to work his way through the Hampton (Va.) Normal and Agricultural Institute. The greatest monument to his life work is the Tuskegee Normal and Industrial Institute of Alabama, of which he was one of the organizers. As president of the institution he made it the foremost exponent of industrial education for the Negro. He has inspired thousands of his race to higher hope and to constructive work toward their real emancipation from the social and economic conditions slavery and color burdened them with. His books, his lectures and his work have also done much to bring about a better understanding of the Negro among other races and in other sections of the country than the South.

In noting the death of Dr. Washington we are firm in the belief and hope that the work he started will continue to the full fruition he had envisioned. It is the kind of work that cannot die and others will take it up where he rests.

Mr. Bryan has carried his propaganda against preparedness and his attacks upon those who would keep the nation strong enough successfully to defend itself against an armed invader far beyond all reasonable and logical bounds. It is all right to argue with President Wilson and other Democrats and even Colonel Roosevelt, because when he finds himself "in a hole" he can resort to his favorite method of applying epithets. But in his latest strictures on Messrs. Wilson and Roosevelt he has placed himself in direct, unblinking opposition to the Prophet Ezekiel. Ezekiel declares Mr. Bryan is entirely wrong and the prophet's word is everlasting, eternal. "Whosoever hearing the sound of the trumpet and taketh not warning his blood shall be upon his own head." On the whole we think the majority of the people would prefer to take Ezekiel as a guide. They surely prefer to follow the course the prophet points out than to have Mr. Bryan feel in the other alternative, that their blood was on his head.

THIS IS THE TIME.

In a letter received from a reader the declaration is made that the greatest mistake committed by California and the whole west was in the selection of her metropolis, and that the mistake was due to a mixture of accident and lack of foresight. Whether this estimate is correct is unimportant, because it is not necessary to search the history of the bay communities to observe a very radical change of attitude and appreciation concerning Oakland.

The people of other cities are beginning to realize that Oakland possesses certain strategic advantages as the real commercial port of San Francisco bay which are peculiarly attached to its location on the mainland. They realize its great potential facilities for handling the traffic of two hemispheres, if needs be, and that these facilities are susceptible of easy and quick development. They know the transportation companies will not longer fail to see the advantage of making this city a great terminal; the economy of time and cost in hauling freight are forcing attention to essentials as against sentiment. The example of the late E. H. Harriman in spending $19,000,000 on the Lucerne cut-off to save forty minutes on a five-day trip cannot be ignored. And outside observers know that Oakland residents will not longer close their eyes to all the natural advantages for the city's future development.

If a city is to be prosperous the people must have faith in their city's future. And if we have the proper faith we must realize that it is necessary to look a little way into the future; that we must not limit our perspective to the present hour and day. And there must be co-ordination of efforts for development, that greater efficiency and economy result. Our schemes for betterment must be as big and as far-seeing as the whole community, and must take account of the community's probable future growth. Oakland has an effective and efficient medium through which efforts for civic improvement may be directed—the Chamber of Commerce and Commercial Club. This is an organization of business and professional men who are filled with high enthusiasm and have an abiding faith in the future of their city.

A week's campaign to increase the membership of this organization opened this morning. Every business man of Oakland should join it and help make it one of the most lively and ambitious commercial bodies in the country. Every new member increases its effectiveness to advance our city's prosperity.

SENATOR PERKINS COMPLIMENTED.

One of the pleasing features of Senator Phelan's speech at the recent Commercial Club luncheon was his very respectful reference to his predecessor, the Hon. George C. Perkins. Ex-Senator Perkins was prevented by ill-health from participating in the function with his neighbors and fellow-citizens who had gathered to extend their hospitality to his successor. He would have been a very welcome participant, and his presence would have added greatly to the occasion. This fact was more fully realized from the remarks of the guest of the occasion; and when, after the luncheon, Senator Phelan made his way to the ex-Senator's home to pay his respects in person, it was recognized as a courtesy that was timely and gracious.

Senator Perkins' health has been such that he has been unable to appear in public since his retirement from official life; and if he was gratified to be thus remembered, neighbors and friends were pleased that he should receive such attention from his successor. It was highly satisfactory all around.

The people of California and the nation will be glad to learn that the late ex-Senator's health has somewhat improved. His interest in affairs has not relaxed in the least, and the visit of Senator Phelan was the occasion of many felicitations on both sides. Senator Perkins rounded out twenty years in the United States Senate March 3d of this year. He was recognized as one of the hardest workers in that distinguished body, and came to wield a great influence because of his close attention to the affairs of his constituents and of the nation at large. No one ever addressed him on public affairs without receiving attention. California has been successful in securing governmental favors beyond most other States, and this fact must be credited in very large degree to its representative for the last two decades in the upper house of Congress.

MY BABY.

Baby darling, you look so wise.
As you gaze at me with your soft brown eyes.
I often wonder if you are thinking
Your mother is so steady, so calm and so winning.
Your dear little head with its crown of red hair.
A thingy-um for a face so fair.
Like a chameleon of gold as the sun shines on it—
Many a kiss have I placed upon it.
Your dear little hands, so dainty and sweet.
Ten pink little toes and two pink little feet.
A smile as sweet as an angel's kiss.
You are one of the joys I would not miss.
When God sends a darling like you, you don't wait.
A mother's heart throbs for giving birth
To a tiny warm morsel of pulsating life.
I'd shield you, my baby, from all pain and strife.

EXPOSITION NIGHTS.

Those who are entranced by the Exposition's marvelous phase, if then becomes a brilliant, gleaming, pulsating, enchanted realm, lying beneath the heavens which reflect its luminous radiance and park—a very paradise, a colossal dream city. No such illumination has ever been attempted or achieved in the world before. A model of the future of the world is being shown in the greatest glory of the Exposition, and the most wonderful feat in illumination ever presented.

At night the Exposition is a dreamland. As one may imagine fair palaces in some far-away realm of the clouds, infinitely white and brilliant, of indescribable magnificence and architecture, so does this marvelous creation appear when bathed in the radiance from the magical colored rays grouped by the clever electric experts of San Francisco. From a distance the vast architectural creation stands out, satin white against the horizon of the night, and the skyline of the buildings seems to be an integral part of the picture, which includes the melted dome of the horizon. This effect is due to the powerful luminous waves cast by great batteries of searchlights against the walls of the building, the towers and lofty domes, while to form an unbroken beauty of light in brilliant colors—blue, yellow, green, maroon, purple and Venetian red, coming in waves behind the massive colonnades—are reflected against the lofty walls and upon rich mural paintings. Under this artificial moonlight which pervades the entire Exposition, huge palms and tree ferns brought from distant lands stand out in contrast with the lofty facades of the buildings, and the visitor gains an impression such as could scarcely be excelled anywhere. The most wonderful architectural works of all the ages transported into the Garden of Eden and the scene bathed in a superlative light more brilliant, more glorious than any moonlight—Hamilton M. Wright, in National Magazine.

COST OF EDUCATION.

Some of the papers are asking anxiously why it costs $20,000 to educate a boy to be an officer at West Point, and only $2500 to educate a boy to be a man (if Harvard has luck) at Harvard. A part of the answer may be that it costs more to educate a boy at West Point than it ought to; but a still larger part of the answer may be that the government deliberately and necessarily undertakes a more expensive task at West Point than Harvard undertakes at Cambridge. The government boards, clothes, houses the young officer—and it must do that, for all boys must be treated exactly alike at West Point, and all must maintain the character of gentlemen as well as equals, if they are to be worth their salt as officers. Harvard's function is only to "turn" the young man; he may live in an attic or a slum, if he wants to, and clothe himself in burlap, or he may array himself in purple and fine linen and come to his lectures in his own limousine.—Boston Transcript.

WHAT IS AN "ATHLETIC HEART"?

The use of the term "athletic heart" has led to more misunderstanding than probably any other one expression. Laymen and parents, perceiving that they are not of the medical profession, get a picture from this expression, which is anything but correct. If they are told that their boys' thighs had increased half an inch in girth under the exercise that he had been doing in the gymnasium they would be pleased, but when they are told that the size of his heart is increased they are at once very much alarmed. Active participation in almost any sport which causes the heart to beat more rapidly will produce an increase of size that muscles, as in any other muscle, and a certain amount of this is unquestionably nature's normal and proper way of taking care of her economy. Some people, it is true, believe that any enlargement is abnormal, but Doctor Maylan, and most of the physicians who have followed the athlete closely, would not agree with this.—Outings.

THE LAND OF LARGE FAMILIES.

In his article on the winter life of the French Canadians in Harper's for November, Howard E. Smith tells of the extraordinarily large families of these simple folk.

"Soon the twilight grew to night, and the large lamp on the table cast its orange glow over the room and the long table filled with steaming dishes.
"You have a large family, madame," I remarked, as they gathered about the table.
"Oh, monsieur, we are sixteen. It is a good gift to be born here, nest-ee pas?" she said, turning toward the cure.
"C'est vrai, mon enfant. It is. There is no better gift than that of another child to his kingdom."
"I could not but remember that the law also had encouraged large families by passing a bill at Quebec giving families of land to any family having, from that time forth, twelve or more children, and how in two years the law was repealed because the demand on those ten-acre lots was in excess of the supply."

IN MOVIE LAND

The damsel in the picture show, sweet Gwendolyn or Betty.
Cannot in peace two minutes go, such pitiful do impertin.
In life we see a nice stenographer, to fear an utter stranger.
Demurely to the office we without a bit of danger.
The heroine comes out all right, escapes the rescue and killer.
But who would pass from fright to fright and find each day a triller?
It may be slow in life's dull realm, but girls had better try it.
Than face the perils of the film without a moment's quiet.

JOHNNY POE DECLINED PROMOTION

When "Johnny" Poe, Princeton star, soldier, adventurer, and member of the family to which Edgar Allan Poe, the poet, belonged, was killed in France during the allies' offensive, while serving as a private in the British Black Watch Regiment, officers of the United States Marine Corps began to recall incidents in Poe's career with the American marines. In 1903, when a war between the United States and Colombia over the Panama Canal strip threatened, Poe, by authority of the then Secretary of the Navy, John D. Long, enlisted with the "sea soldiers" to serve during the war. If war should not result, he was to be discharged, for, excellent soldier though he was, he could not bear the "rigors" of a peaceful campaign. Capt. Smedley D. Butler appointed Poe a sergeant in his machine-gun company, an appointment not at all to the adventurer's liking. So he went to Col. Littleton W. T. Waller (now in command of the Marine Corps force ashore in Haiti) and asked to be reduced to private.

"I don't think I'm capable of holding the rank of sergeant in the United States Marine Corps," he told Col. Waller. This was an unusual case, and the colonel wanted to know why Poe considered himself not fitted to hold the rank. "I have a fair education and considerable military training," Poe replied, "but I haven't been in the Marine Corps long enough to be a sergeant, and to do the duties as well as a marine sergeant should do them." Col. Waller smiled. "Why, Poe," he said, "a number of second lieutenants, only recently commissioned, have just joined us, and no one expects them to know everything there is to know." "That's all right, colonel," Poe replied quickly, "no one expects a second lieutenant to know anything, but they do expect a whole lot from a sergeant."

CHINA FOSTERS SILK INDUSTRY

China exports an average of 15,235,000 pounds of silk valued at $20,000,000 every year. The government is doing everything possible to promote silk industry. As silk has heretofore been raised only in South China, the government is now trying to arouse the northern people's interest in the silk trade. Silk-worm eggs and mulberry trees are freely distributed to the farmers. The government's policy is first to improve the production of silk and second to help the merchants to maintain their standing in the silk trade and also to extend it. In many provinces in the country model silk factories, laboratories for examining silk eggs, and institutions devoted to the promotion of silk industry have been established recently by the government as well as by the people. These encouragement is given to such institutions. Offices for the prevention of the diseases of silkworms are now also in existence. The merchants are advised to consider quality and skill rather than to seek increase in the quantity of the output. Protective regulations to safeguard the interests of silk and silkworm merchants have been promulgated. For the purpose of aiding the silk merchants who were in financial difficulties as the result of the European war, the amount of $20,000,000 in bonds was appropriated last year. Government loans are being made to silk merchants without interest. In Kwangtung province, there are today more than 200 silk filatures besides model factories, silk-worm disease-prevention hospitals and silk-trade schools. The provinces of Chekiang and Kiangsu have over 100 filatures each. Marked progress in silk industry has been also made in recent years in Szechuan province. In the other provinces such as Kiangsi, Hunan, Kweichow, etc., signs of progress and improvement in the silk trade are also in sight now.

GOLD IN THE PHILIPPINES.

The report of the Bureau of Science of Manila indicates that some of the earlier dreams of mineral wealth in the Philippines are to be realized. Gold, iron and lead have all been produced in quantities sufficient to be marketed. The report, however, is devoted almost entirely to gold production, because the year of 1914 was characterized in Philippine mining by the growing ascendancy of gold mining over other branches of the mineral industry.

The output of gold in the Philippines for that year amounted to $1,174,623. A little more than half of this production came from quartz mining and about 44 per cent from dredging. The most productive region was around Aror, Masbate. The oldest of the mills here, that of the Colorado mines, is now treating 150 tons of ore a day. Next to it is the gold dredging region of Marikina, Pinaric and Marikina. Camarines. One company in operation here is reported to have paid 100 per cent on its original investment of $250,000.

AUTUMN CANDLES.

Pale sapphires hang the sky.
And pink a lovely overhead
Due south a wild geese fly.
The sweet air, the golden red
Still from the rocks unfold
Thin, ancient, royal tapestries
Of the past, of gold.
And while are rocking empty nests
Once filled with little wars,
And frost has touched a silver match
To all the fire of June.
And all and only thro' the haze
Of autumn the apparition
Of a great candle set
Around dead summer's bier.
—Alma Irving.

THE JESTER.

An Old Man's Fate.
A Confederate veteran's wife, whose shrewish temper was well known throughout the state, demanded that an old servant, who had served with her husband in the Civil War, be dismissed. "Sam," said the old man, "go to your room and pack your things and leave away."
"Me-I can go," he said, in an ecstasy of gratitude. Then suddenly his manner changed, as with the utmost composure he added:
"But you, my poor old friend, you must stay."—New York Times.

Only Fortifying Himself.

In the good old days when by where a gardener was kept to be used to the custom to keep a "cask of lemonade" from which the outdoor servants could help themselves. The gardener was "called" to go very frequently to the "cask" and his mistress took occasion to speak to him on the subject.
"John," she said. "I think you get thirty very often."
"No, mum, I don't," replied John.
"Well, John, I see you very frequently at the lemonade barrel."
"Yes, mum, that's what keeps me from getting thirty."—Chicago News.

TWO KEITHS NOW IN WILL TRIAL

Witness Says North Platte
Man Was Not California Millionaire.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—In support of the contention that a man named Keith, who lived in North Platte, Nebraska, in 1872 and who had a daughter as testified to by Dr. Sarah J. Tedford, sponsor for Mrs. Louise K. Thomson, was Morel C. Keith, a restaurant keeper, and not John M. Keith, who subsequently became the California millionaire, Attorney John L. McNab called to the witness stand this morning Mrs. Johanna F. Wood of 2532 East Twenty-third street, Fruitvale.

Woman Accuses Soap Manufacturer of Fraud

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15.—Geo. L. Miller, president of a soap company at 2677 San Bruno avenue, is accused of obtaining money under false pretenses in a warrant procured this morning by Mrs. A. B. Faye. She charges that on June 15 she was induced by Miller to invest $1000 in his company under the representation that it controlled a large business. She says that Miller told her that he supplied a majority of the Chinese laundries with soap and that the fee for doing so would result in her receiving substantial dividends. These representations, she now alleges, proved false.

Police Judge J. Oppenheim, who issued the warrant, fixed bonds at $5000.

ried William Leville. The latter later became a congressman and judge. Mrs. Leville, the former Mollie Keith, died when her child Keith Leville, was born. Mrs. Wood declared that she lived in North Platte from 1872 to 1900. William Nauman, clerk in a local clothing store, testified that he also knew Morel Keith, the café proprietor, and that he knew a John Keith as well. Neither man, he asserted, was the John M. Keith, whose estate is now being probated.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Supreme Court held today that a man who ships liquor from one state to another without labeling it as such, in violation of law, may be prosecuted in either state.

Oakland Members of Historic Society Take Part in Festivities at Exposition.

Oakland members of the Sons and Daughters of the Revolution crossed the bay today to participate in the observance of George Washington day at the Exposition, for which patriotic exercises, including a colonial ball in the California building and other special features had been arranged. H. C. Cupwell, who had been invited to assist as one of the chairmen of the day, was unable, because of press of business, to attend, but many others from Oakland were at the celebration. Among the prominent people taking in the celebration were: Marshall Hale, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cupwell, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Dutton, Senator James D. Phelan, Governor and Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Phoebe Hearst, Judge and Mrs. C. N. Slack, Colonel Clark H. Wood, Mr. S. A. Mr. and Mrs. George T. Conover.

The program opened at Festival hall with music and an address of welcome by Frank L. Brown, W. H. Crocker, chairman of the day, also spoke, and Miss Dorothy McGowan sang. General C. A. Woodruff, U. S. A., retired, spoke on "Washington's Life and Achievements" and Professor E. D. Adams of Stanford spoke on "Washington and Neutrality." Tonight a colonial ball will close the celebration.

Memory of Former Councilman Honored

At a meeting of the Oakland Scottish Bowling Club held Saturday evening, the following memorial to the late J. A. C. Macdonald, a former councilman and a member of the club, who was recently killed in an automobile accident near Hayward, was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the Oakland Scottish Bowling Club has lost through the death of J. A. C. Macdonald, one of its most devoted and honored members, a man of quiet disposition, lovable character and sterling integrity, and the city of Oakland one of its most patriotic and most highly respected citizens, therefore, be it

Resolved, that the officers and members of the Oakland Scottish Bowling Club deeply deplore his sudden and untimely demise in the full vigor of manhood, and extend to his afflicted widow and family their sincerest sympathies in the hour of their bereavement; and be it further

When I began using it I was so hoarse at times that it was difficult for me to speak above a whisper. I resorted to the use of this valuable medicine and found it very soothing and healing. A FULL COAL BIN IS A GUARANTEE OF A WINTER'S SOLID COMFORT

THERE is perhaps more solid comfort to the square inch in a well-filled coal bin than in any other utility about the house.

Leastwise, there is an indescribable satisfaction and pleasant anticipation of bright firesides for every cold, rainy winter evening, when the prudent householder sees his coal bin crowned with the last scoop full that taxes its capacity, all snugly stored away in the dry before winter sets in.

There is another element of satisfaction in knowing that the winter's fuel supply was bought and delivered while the price per ton was so advantageous, as is now the case among local dealers.

The householder or housewife who defers laying in the winter's coal until winter time, and then buys a half-ton at a time misses a great deal of satisfaction and peace of mind. They are never quite sure but that at some time during the winter the house may be cold and cheerless for hours, perhaps day, at a time because of delay in delivery of a cartload of that precious, black carboniferous substance which at times seems worth its weight in gold.

The coal dealers represented on this page of The Tribune are prepared to make immediate deliveries on all coal orders at the most advantageous rates to be obtained again at any time before next summer. There are numerous assortments of Pacific Coast coal which fulfills satisfactorily all the ordinary requirements of a wide range of coal usages.

To prefer and insist upon having these delivered instead of coal imported from other localities is a contribution to the up-building of home industry, at the same time receiving in exchange full value for the outlay of money. When grades of coal not produced on this coast are required the chances are that the local coal dealers can more readily and economically supply that need as well.

Outlying districts should lose no time in getting their winter fuel into the bins.

The Wise Man's admonition to consider the ways of the ant and be wise is not out of place with respect to the family fuel supply for the approaching winter.
